The Tool Box: Executive Orders, Midnight Rules, Congressional Review Act

- Executive Orders
  - Have the force of law

President Trump’s Financial Services Policy

Look to the Senate Banking Committee and HFSC Chair Hensarling for guidance.

On Dodd-Frank:
"We have to get rid of Dodd-Frank. The banks aren’t loaning money to people that need it.... The regulators are running the banks."

On Too Big to Fail:
– Does not support “breaking up” big banks
– But supports Glass-Steagall

On Housing:
Dodd-Frank roll-backs could significantly alter single family residential underwriting requirements and reduce liability that has arguably constrained credit availability

Regulatory Reform
– No new regulations until economy shows “significant growth”

Housing Finance Reform Proposals - Republican

“Keep the baby... throw out the bathwater.” – Michael Bright

Toward a New Secondary Mortgage Market

Michael Bright and Ed DeMarco

September 2016

Executive Summary

There is a simple and sensible way to finally achieve comprehensive housing finance reform in our country. The approach we propose in this paper is to amend the charters of Ginnie Mae, Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, and the Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA).

Simply amending these charters can accomplish a wide swath of the objectives that have eluded legislators and policymakers since the conservatorship of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac began in 2008. Each of the charter changes we propose can stand on its own right as sound policy. Collectively, they allow us to take important steps toward a more robust, dynamic, and secure market for mortgage credit risk.

All of this can be achieved while not materially affecting borrower interest rates, since we leverage a well-known and widely accepted government-backed vehicle that the market already understands, as well as risk-transfer mechanisms that the market has accepted since 2013. The transition to this reform can be accomplished smoothly, leaving a housing system that is efficient, open to competition and innovation, and ensures a stable supply of mortgage financing.

Our proposal would end the conservatorships, reconstitute Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac as lender-owned entities, and build on the credit risk transfer (CRT) initiatives to create a private market for mortgage credit risk while preserving a government-guaranteed rates market for mortgage-backed securities. Other firms could compete with Fannie and Freddie in the business of aggregating loans and gathering together the private capital that takes on housing risk ahead of the backstop government guarantee. We seek to make these changes while preserving as much as possible how lenders, servicers, and others operate today so as to keep what works, avoid disruption to current business practices, and limit risk in transition.

Legislative Options for Repealing the Affordable Care Act

- President Trump and the Republicans in Congress have the ability to quickly eliminate key portions of the ACA using the budget reconciliation process (which was used to enact the ACA legislation)
- This approach allows for the passage of federal tax and revenue measures with a procedure that is not subject to a filibuster in the Senate. The Republicans’ majority in the House and Senate would be sufficient to repeal major ACA provisions including:
  - The individual and employer mandates
  - The federal subsidies that reduce the costs of mandated coverage for lower income individuals in the ACA exchanges
  - The taxes built in to the ACA including the medical device tax, the tax on so called Cadillac health plans, and the high-income earner Medicare surtax
- The process would leave in place non-revenue related aspects of the ACA including the requirement that health insurers issue coverage without regard to pre-existing conditions and the mandate that they allow children up to age 26 to be covered under their parents’ health plans.
- Repeal could take effect immediately or be delayed to minimize disruption for the approximately 20 million people who have already obtained health coverage because of the ACA.
Potential Replacements for the Affordable Care Act

President Trump’s Healthcare Reform Proposal:

- Completely repeal Obamacare
- Modify existing law that inhibits the sale of health insurance across state lines
- Allow individuals to fully deduct health insurance premium payments from their tax returns under the current tax system
- Allow individuals to use Health Savings Accounts (HSAs)
- Require price transparency from all healthcare providers, especially doctors and healthcare organizations like clinics and hospitals
- Block-grant Medicaid to the states
- Remove barriers to entry into free markets for drug providers that offer safe, reliable and cheaper products

Given the general nature of these policy proposals, the Republican replacement to the ACA is likely to draw upon plans produced by leaders in Congress. Two of those proposals are discussed below.
Potential Replacements for the Affordable Care Act

Continued

Speaker Ryan’s “Better Way” Plan

The House Republicans under the direction of Speaker Paul Ryan have developed a substantial health reform proposal which repeals the ACA and replaces it with an extensive policy framework: titled A Better Way: Our Vision for a Confident America. Key provisions include:

- Pre-existing conditions and the individual mandate
- Essential health benefits and age-rating ratios (3 to 1)
- Subsidies and tax credits
- Medicaid block grants
- Capping the employer-based-insurance tax exclusion

Tom Price’s “Empowering Patients First Act”

Tom Price, Trump’s nominee for U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services, has put forward his own plan to repeal and replace the ACA which is similar in many ways to Ryan’s Better Way Plan. Price’s plan proposes:

- Providing preexisting condition protection only if the beneficiary has maintained continuous health insurance coverage.
- Replace the ACA’s subsidies with tax credits based on age rather than income and cap the tax exclusion for employer based coverage at $8,000 for individuals and $20,000 for families
- Eliminate the essential health benefits requirements and do away with age rating ratios
- Encourage the use of health savings accounts and imposing limits on medical malpractice litigation.

The Patient Choice, Affordability, Responsibility, and Empowerment (“CARE”) Act from Senator Hatch, Senator Burr, and Rep. Upton

The CARE Act’s key provisions include:

- Preexisting conditions and the individual mandate
- Subsides and tax credits
- Essential health benefits and age-rating ratios (5 to 1)
- Capping the employer-based-insurance tax exclusion.
- Medicaid block grants
President Trump’s Business Tax Provisions

- 15% corporate income tax rate
- Cap the tax rate on pass-through business income at 15% (possibly limited to small pass-throughs; large entities 15% entity tax and 20% tax on dividends)
- Allow full expensing (but limit interest deductibility)
- Possibly end tax deferral on overseas corporate income
- Enact one-time deemed repatriation tax of 10% on all currently deferred foreign profits (4% tax on illiquid assets)
- Eliminate all corporate tax expenditures (except R&D credit)
- Eliminate Corporate AMT
President Trump’s Individual Tax Provisions

- Individual Tax Provisions
  - 3 tax brackets:
    - 12% (37.5K and 75K)
    - 25% ($112.5K and 225K)
    - 33% (in excess of $112.5K and 225K)
- Capital gains brackets of 0%, 15%, and 20% coinciding with income tax brackets
- Standard deduction of $15,000 for individuals and $30,000 for married individuals
- Repeal AMT and 3.8% Net Investment Tax
- Repeal estate tax (but disallow basis step-up for estates over $10M – likely taxed upon sale)
- Tax carried interest as ordinary income
- Deduct child care expenses equal to the average child care cost (income cap at $250K/$500K)
- Cap deductions for high-income individuals at $100,000, or $200,000 for married filers
House GOP Task Force on Tax Reform Blueprint

Business Provisions

- Reduces the corporate tax rate from 35% to 20%
- 25% rate for all pass-throughs
- Repeals corporate AMT
- Immediate and full expensing for business investments
- Eliminate current deduction for interest expense
- Net operating losses allowed to carry forward indefinitely
- Retains R&D but eliminates other “special interest deductions”
- Replaces worldwide income tax system with a destination basis cash-flow tax approach that imposes tax by location of consumption (as opposed to location of production). Sales of exported products, services and intangibles would not be subject to U.S. tax. Imported products, services and intangibles will not be deductible.
House GOP Task Force on Tax Reform Blueprint

Individual Provisions

- Reduce the number of tax brackets to three (12%, 25%, 33%)
- Combines the standard deduction, additional standard deduction, and the Personal Exemption into a “Larger Standard Deduction”
- Combines the Child Tax Credit (CTC) and the personal exemption for children and dependents into one “Larger Child and Dependent Tax Credit.” Increases the CTC to $1,500 per child
- 50% deduction allowance for individuals’ net capital gains, dividends, and interest income
- Repeals the estate tax
- Repeals unspecified “special-interest provisions”
- Retains the EITC, higher education deductions, mortgage interest and charitable contribution deductions
